TODAYS ODDITY

ELMIRA, N. Y., Dec. 17.—UP—Smoking by students of Elmira college, established exclusively for women 75 years ago, will be permitted henceforth, Attorney Hubert C. Mandeville, president of the board of trustees, announced tonight.

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

She wasn't much to look at. Her pedigree was never entered in the dogdom blue book or social register. Her coloring was indescribable—a sort of a blackish white.

Her tail was a long drawn out affair, with a funny twist in the end—where she had inadvertently dropped it into the crack of the automobile door.

Her ears were long—and drooping—and when she was interested in anything, she made a feeble attempt at making them stand up straight.

Her name, to complete the picture, was "Phoeey!"

Her mistress picked her up upon the streets one day—just a poor, homeless pup, whose brown eyes seemed to cry, "please, won't somebody take me home and feed me—and love me?"

She was taken home, fed like she had never eaten before. She was bathed and given the attention that a baby demands.

And in return, she showed that quality that only a dog can show—loyalty to the last ditch.

When her mistress was sad, she was sad. When her mistress was glad, she was glad.

She was always hungry and in devilment, tearing about the house with her playmate, a big police dog that would make two of her, but who treated her with respect, in spite of the fact that she made his life miserable.

And she lived in ceaseless fear that some day her master or her mistress, whom she loved as only a dog could, would leave her, never to return. When she was left alone for only five minutes, she went wild with joy when they returned.

Just a poor, stray mongrel, that helped make life worth living.

Today Phoeey isn't any more. Some unspeakable beast—a person who will never be good enough to stand in the presence of a street cur—made her friendship and then fed her ground glass mixed in meat.

Phoeey is gone. The master and mistress avoid mentioning her name. But her playmate—the police dog—still is looking for her; he doesn't understand.

Heaven may be a beautiful place—where the righteous earn their reward—but if there aren't any dogs there, Satan, we're sending our reservation now.

APPEAL DRY LAW DECISION

PLANS MADE HERE TO AID NEEDY ON XMAS

GOVERNMENT SURE OF VICTORY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—UP—An immediate supreme court appeal of Judge William Clark's ruling that the Eighteenth amendment is invalid, with a final decision possible within three months was directed today by Attorney General William D. Mitchell.

Anti-Saloon League officials said they might, if they thought it necessary, move to intervene in the supreme court hearing against Clark.

Lawyers after studying the full text of Clark's long opinion expressed belief that most of the law and precedence were on the government side, but cited his basic argument as interesting and unique.

Mitchell's decision for an immediate appeal will bring preliminary papers in the case before the supreme court, now in recess, shortly after it convenes Jan. 5. The decision was announced after a conference of justice officials with U. S. Attorney Phillip Forman who prosecuted the now famous Sprague case decided by Clark.

The fast procedure decided upon is the same as that followed by the government in the noted Farar liquor buying case from Boston last year. It was adopted in the opinion of many here for fear that sentiment for enforcement might be hurt by allowing any cloud to remain on the validity of the amendment.

Government officials refused to discuss the case, but are confident of winning a reversal.

APPEAL WILL BE ASKED TODAY

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 17.—UP—U. S. Attorney Phillip Forman announced tonight he would file an application tomorrow with Federal Judge William Clark for permission to appeal to the U. S. supreme court from Judge Clark's decision holding the Eighteenth amendment invalid, if the application can be prepared in time.

Otherwise, the application will be filed Friday.

Forman made the announcement when he returned from Washington where he conferred with department of justice officials on the matter.

Probe On

In the meantime police and fire department officials, with Deputy District Attorney T. S. N. Calfee are continuing their investigation into the blaze, which caused $100 damages.

The fire was discovered at 3:45 yesterday morning by Sergeant John Kinstry, of the Richmond police department who was patrolling his beat in his car.

Kinstry saw smoke pouring from the building and the flames were beginning to break through the sides of the structure.

When the Richmond fire department responded to the alarm and extinguished the blaze, an investigation was launched to determine the cause of the fire.

The provisional government of President Baudilio Palma, who had taken office only last Friday, was overthrown. The minister of war, General Mauro de Leon, was among those killed in the fighting.

The revolution occurred yesterday. Gen. Orellana, in command of Fort Matamoros, led the revolt, backed by his troops. Heavy fighting occurred in the center of the city, where the way minister fell.

Order was restored in the city today and the provisional government announced that constitutional guarantees would be respected.

When Palma assumed office, the army and congress officially recognized him. At a special session, Friday night, the legislative assembly confirmed him as constitutional president for the period of Chacon's incapacity by a vote of 45 to 18. FIGHT RACKET WORRIES N.Y. PROMOTERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—UP—Having sharpened his wits on relativity and other such teasers, Prof. Einstein might find diversion and at the same time render a great service to the public by going to the aid of Messrs. Carey, Bruen, Jacobs, Stribling (Pop), Stribling (Willie), and other members of boxing's elect.

The members of the elect (all save Willie, and he is due soon) spent Tuesday in impromptu huddles in and about Madison Square Garden. It was learned on good authority that the members of the elect, with their usual decisiveness, decided on nothing save that it was Tuesday.

Unless some such mind as Herr Einstein's is applied to the task of straightening out the heavy-weight muddle, sports page readers may be doomed for several weeks of reading how this promoter signed that fighter, and that fighter refused that promoter. All of which comes under the intriguing title of ballyhoo.

Left to themselves, Messrs. Carey, Bruen, et al., after a few weeks of huddling, will most likely come up with the following results:

1. Stribling and Carnera to fight in Miami under Bruen's banner sometime this winter.
2. The winner of the Miami fight to meet Jack Sharkey in the Garden under the Garden's banner.
3. The winner of the Sharkey fight to meet Max Schmeling for the title on the Milk Fund card.

Bout Seen

Bruen, the one-time general manager of the Garden, but now a promoter on his own, is believed to have the inside rail on the Stribling-Carnera bout. Bruen, in addition to having Carnera lined up, has the city of Miami more or less behind him. Also, the Garden, if they secured Carnera, would have to worry about his suspension in this state.

If the three fights above go through it will be interesting to see how the New York state commission handles Carnera's suspension. If Carnera whipped Stribling the suspension would have to be set aside before he could meet Sharkey here. The same goes for Stribling, for under the commission's ruling a fighter automatically suspends himself by meeting an ineligible opponent.

It will probably all end in the commission or suspensions being set aside before the fights would be a little too far in spoiling Carnera's chance at the heavy-weight crown.

Will Fight

Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, has let it be known that the champion will fight his next fight on the Milk Fund card here in June. Jacobs said that Max was boxing two or three rounds each day in Germany and would arrive here ready to defend his crown. He also said that there was a possibility that Dempsey might return to the ring for a title bout with Schmeling.

Stribling, despite his narrow wins over De Kuh in Atlanta and Griffiths in Chicago, is still the

Knute 'Burned Up' At All U. S. Grid Selectors

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17.—UP—"Did Knute Rockne leave Los Angeles in a rage after the Notre Dame-Southern California game?" Sid Ziff, sports editor of the Evening Express, asked today in his column.

"Certain Notre Dame men think he did," wrote Ziff. "Not with Los Angeles, Southern California or the 27-0 triumph of the Irish, but with certain coaches who serve with him on the all-American football board. It is said Rockne became all burned up because the other coaches refused to pick Metzger, his diminutive guard, over their first all-American, Rockne said Metzger was worth it if any man was. The other coaches on the board are Pop Warner, Stanford; Tad Jones, former Yale coach, and W. A. Alexander, Georgia Tech."

Ernie Nevers May Coach Stanford

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17.—UP—Glenn S. "Pop" Warner's favorable attitude toward accepting an offer as football coach at Pennsylvania today caused the names of Dick Hanley, Northwestern, and Ernie Nevers, professional football star, to be mentioned in connection with the coaching job at Stanford.

Football men here believe that Warner decides to leave Stanford. Hanley will be offered the vacancy. Hanley uses the Warner system in coaching Northwestern. Nevers, former all-American star at Stanford, also is considered a likely prospect to head a graduate coaching system.

Good Old Days Of Baseball Are Recalled

COLCHESTER, Conn., Dec. 17.—UP—The days when Connie Mack and four other good ball players were worth only $3500 was recalled here today by a white-bearded man now a star member of the hot stove league. The reminiscing was done by Charles F. Daniels, first umpire of the National league.

Daniels, now 51, parked his feet on the wood stove of his kitchen, and told of the days when Connie Mack was a youngster.

"Gosh," he mused, "I bought Mack from Tom Reilly of the Meriden club for next to nothing and later sold him with four others to the Boston team."

College Course Given 8 Years Without Name

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 17.—UP—Without a name for eight years, one of the finest mental courses in electrical engineering at the Pennsylvania State College is still being listed merely by number, and is farther from receiving a name today than it was when it was introduced in the early years of the decade.

The purpose of this unusual course, according to C. L. Kinslow, head of the department of electrical engineering, is to enable the student who elects this branch of engineering to determine for himself whether it is the most suitable profession for him to pursue, and to determine this from being thrown into direct contact with electrical problems.

In the second half of his freshman year, therefore, the youthful electrical is introduced to "electrical laboratory 21" and in the first half of his sophomore year to "electrical laboratory 22," the course without a name.

"While the course includes a series of informal lectures," Kinslow said, "it is intended that the student shall find himself largely through the medium of work he performs in the laboratory."

This laboratory work brings the student into direct contact with many types of electrical equipment, introduces him to a number of electrical problems, and gives him actual experience in the types of work required of the electrical engineer.

NO DEPRESSION IN SPORTS HERE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17.—UP—There isn't any depression in the sports business in the southern section of California. An outlay of approximately $2,000,000 is involved in the sports program for December and the early part of January in this vicinity.

Beginning with the Notre Dame-Southern California football contest December 6, four sports events in one week—a football game, a boxing bout, a wrestling match and an automobile race—drew more than half a million dollars in gate receipts and over 125,000 spectators.

Football is the biggest sport in this section. Four games during December and January will attract approximately 250,000 persons and gate receipts in excess of $900,000. The Notre Dame-Southern California game was a sell out, drawing 90,000 persons and receipts of approximately $450,000. The Tournament of Roses game January 1 will attract a capacity crowd of 85,000 and receipts of about $375,000, with tickets priced at $5, $3, and $2. The seat sale already has passed the 40,000 mark, more than two weeks before Washington State and Alabama meet in Rose Bowl.

East West Game

The east-west charity game is expected to attract 50,000 on December 27. A high school football game between Long Beach and Redondo drew 18,000 at the Coliseum last Saturday.

Four open golf tournaments, beginning with the Pasadena open Friday carry prize money totaling $40,500. The $10,000 Los Angeles open tournament will be held January 9, 10 and 11 and the Agua Caliente open, with $25,000 in prize money, will take place January 12 to 17.

The second annual race meeting of the Agua Caliente Jockey club will open Christmas Day, with sixteen state races alone carrying a total added money value of $170,000. This does not include the many thousands of dollars which are wagered daily on the races at the gate receipts. Sunday crowds at Agua Caliente usually average about 10,000 and Saturday crowds 5,000 and more.

Auto Races

The Agua Caliente handicap, the world's richest race, carrying $140,000 in added money, will be held Sunday, March 22.

Strangely enough, wrestling, not boxing, is the principal night sport in this region. Boxing shows, held twice a week, have been drawing around 2,000, while wrestling matches, twice a month, have been attracting more than 8,000 on the average.

The last wrestling match, billed for the synthetic world championship between Gus Sonnenberg and Don George, local favorite, packed in a capacity house of 10,500. The receipts exceeded $35,000. The usual top price for wrestling is $5.

Carideo May Coach U. C.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17.—UP—Frank Carideo, Notre Dame quarterback, is under consideration as football coach at the University of California. It became known today through local alumni of the state school.

Carideo will appear here December 27 with the Notre Dame all-stars. It is understood that California is anxious to get a Notre Dame man and that Carideo is one of many under consideration for the job left vacant by the resignation of Nibs Price.

Can Of Tomatoes Routs S. F. Bandits

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17.—David Weiner, 247 Carl street, used a can of tomatoes as a weapon in a skirmish with a hold-up man in his store last night. The bandit told Weiner to hold up his hands, threatening the grocer with a hand in his coat pocket. On raising his hands, the grocer's fingers touched a can of tomatoes. He grasped the can, and hurled it at the head of the bandit. The bandit ran from the store.

Another grocer clerk, Henry Gordan at 2895 Pine street, was also held up last night, and was forced to hand over $29. A sum of $2125 was secured by a bandit who boarded a street car on Montgomery avenue and held up Walter Stratt, street car conductor of 994 Capp street.

Bank Declares Large Dividend

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—UP—Announcing that they had so much capital and surplus that it could not be profitably invested in this "time of abnormally low rates for money and dull business," directors of the Chicago Bank of Commerce voted today to recommend return of $80 a share in cash to stockholders.

PORTLAND GETS NEW BASEBALL BOSS AGAIN

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 17.—UP—The time has come, Tom Turner said, to get another manager.

So, the president of the Portland baseball club of the Pacific coast league, at the meeting of the National Association at Montreal, hired Edouard Abbott of Omaha in the Western league.

A new manager every year has been the way of Turner. The latest to go is Larry Woodall, former star catcher of the Detroit Americans. Woodall lasted a year. The team never clicked under him, what with lack of inspiration, club brawls and injuries.

With 11 managers showing here in 10 years, it is little wonder that fans yearn for the days of Walter McCredie, who handled the club from 1905 to 1920. He won five pennants—in 1906, 1910, 1911, 1913, and 1914. But the lean years between 1914 and 1920 started the cry of a change and McCredie sold out his interests—much to the ultimate regret of many.

When Bill Klepper bought out McCredie he placed Bill Kenworthy, second baseman, in charge. But trouble with Judge Landis as did Klepper, and Kenworthy was banished. Then came Al Demaree, Frank Brazil, "Rowdy" Elliott, Tom Turner and Jimmie Middleton—all in one year.

When Turner purchased Klepper's interest in 1925 he put Duffy Lewis in as manager. The star outfielder of the old Red Sox combination—Spencer, Lewis, and Hooper—lasted a year. Then came "Truck" Hannah, present catcher for the Los Angeles club. He was followed by Ernie Johnson, Bill Reisers, Larry Woodall—and now, Abbott.

Abbott has had long experience in handling minor league clubs. He has had success with young pitchers. He's the fighting type that carries on until the final put-out.

Turner's annual sales and trades started with the Montreal meeting. He purchased George Wuestling, shortstop, from the New York Yankees; Catcher John Fitzpatrick from Oklahoma; Homer Summa and Ossie Orvill from the Athletics, on the understanding that W. Lahti, a fine looking pitching prospect, would go up to Philadelphia in 1932, and trade southward Fred Orman to Oakland for Jack Fenton, first baseman. Both Orman and Fenton are big league prospects and the change may do the trick.

NO DEPRESSION IN SPORTS HERE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17.—UP—

There isn't any depression in the sports business in the southern section of California. An outlay of approximately $2,000,000 is involved in the sports program for December and the early part of January in this vicinity.

Beginning with the Notre Dame-Southern California football contest December 6, four sports events in one week—a football game, a boxing bout, a wrestling match and an automobile race—drew more than half a million dollars in gate receipts and over 125,000 spectators.

Football is the biggest sport in this section. Four games during December and January will attract approximately 250,000 persons and gate receipts in excess of $900,000. The Notre Dame-Southern California game was a sell out, drawing 90,000 persons and receipts of approximately $450,000. The Tournament of Roses game January 1 will attract a capacity crowd of 85,000 and receipts of about $375,000, with tickets priced at $5, $3, and $2. The seat sale already has passed the 40,000 mark, more than two weeks before Washington State and Alabama meet in Rose Bowl.

East West Game

The east-west charity game is expected to attract 50,000 on December 27. A high school football game between Long Beach and Redondo drew 18,000 at the Coliseum last Saturday.

Four open golf tournaments, beginning with the Pasadena open Friday carry prize money totaling $40,500. The $10,000 Los Angeles open tournament will be held January 9, 10 and 11 and the Agua Caliente open, with $25,000 in prize money, will take place January 12 to 17.

The second annual race meeting of the Agua Caliente Jockey club will open Christmas Day, with sixteen state races alone carrying a total added money value of $170,000. This does not include the many thousands of dollars which are wagered daily on the races at the gate receipts. Sunday crowds at Agua Caliente usually average about 10,000 and Saturday crowds 5,000 and more.

Auto Races

The Agua Caliente handicap, the world's richest race, carrying $140,000 in added money, will be held Sunday, March 22.

Strangely enough, wrestling, not boxing, is the principal night sport in this region. Boxing shows, held twice a week, have been drawing around 2,000, while wrestling matches, twice a month, have been attracting more than 8,000 on the average.

The last wrestling match, billed for the synthetic world championship between Gus Sonnenberg and Don George, local favorite, packed in a capacity house of 10,500. The receipts exceeded $35,000. The usual top price for wrestling is $5.

Seat Sale For Big Game Large

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17.—UP—The seat sale for the Alabama-Washington State football game in Rose bowl, Pasadena, New Year's Day has passed the 45,000 mark. Carl V. Foster, Washington State graduate manager of athletics, said today. A capacity crowd of 85,000, fourteen thousand more than the previous record crowd for a Tournament of Roses game, is expected.

Folding Bed Kills Aged Man

PEORIA, Ill., Dec. 17.—UP—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Metzler, aged citizens of Peoria, went to sleep at nine last night in the old-fashioned folding bed.

The bed snapped upright during the night, imprisoning both heads down. Mrs. Metzler managed to free herself late today. She called the coroner, who, with his chauffeur, managed to pry the bed open. The body of Metzler, 78, fell to the floor. He had been smothered to death.

Revolts In Spain Followed By Strikes

MADRID, Spain, Dec. 17.—UP—The government of Premier Gen. Damaso Berenguer held strict military control of Spain tonight after apparently complete defeat of a threatened nation-wide revolutionary movement.

The nation, ruled by martial law and troops which were concentrated for any emergency, was calm except for a few regions.

Strikes and unrest appeared to provide possible danger in Barcelona, Alicante and Valencia, but strong military forces were in command in those regions as well as in the northern sections where strikes continued. Strikes in other regions appeared to be disintegrating and many shops were running at Barcelona.

General Berenguer, who was stricken ill of typhoid last night, was improving but still confined to his residence at the war ministry. The scheduled cabinet meeting was postponed.

Casualties since the revolt at Jaca last Friday were not estimated officially, but appeared to be more than a score in addition to the Jaca casualties there were two dead and six wounded at Gallur; one dead and four hurt at Oviedo; one dead at Gijon (where several others also were reported killed); two dead and a dozen injured at San Sebastian; one dead at Callosa de Segur. (Unofficial estimates of the casualties at Jaca said close to 100 had been killed or wounded.)

The conclusion drawn from the utter failure of revolutionary leaders to inspire popular demonstrations or affect loyalty of the army by "proclamation" of a republic in a concentrated movement throughout Spain was that the time is not yet ripe for a republican form of government.

New Strikes

It was generally believed that, if the rumors that the army was republican in sympathy had been true, the revolt would have succeeded quickly. As it developed, the concerted uprising and general strike simmered down to night to strikes in a few regions, including Alicante, Bilbao, San Sebastian, Oviedo, Santander and the Asturias mining district.

A statement that "the only satisfactory solution to the political problem facing Spain" is the convocation of a constitutional convention to draw up a new constitution was made by Jose Luis Sanchez Guerra, former premier, Melquiades Salazar, Miguel Villanueva, Francisco Bergamin and Burgos Maza, all outstanding republican leaders.

Hundreds of Republican and extremist leaders were under arrest tonight including Niceto Alcalá Zamora, who serenely maintained that he was personally responsible for a proclamation at Bilbao Monday naming himself as president "of the republic."

King Alfonso continued his regular inspection of the artillery barracks, driving through the capital in an automobile. Other members of the royal family also went for automobile drives.

Police and civil guards, armed with rifles, patrolled the capital's streets. The government's confidence in its ability to control the situation was indicated by the restoration of regular telephone communication throughout Spain and with foreign countries.

Early London Life Revealed By Book Published In 1807

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—UP—London and London folk of the first decade may be studied to advantage in a three-volume book published in London, 1807-1809, which has recently been obtained by the Ackerman galleries in Chicago.

The book, which collectors say is almost without price in the original edition, is Augustin Pugin's own copy of "Microcosm of London." The Microcosm was originally published monthly by R. Ackerman who persuaded Augustin Pugin, an architect and architectural draftsman, refugee from France, and Thomas Rowlandson, artist and satirist, to collaborate.

Noted Sketches

Pugin sketched the famous public places and peopled them with contemporary Londoners. In addition to an accompanying text, descriptive, philosophical and moralizing.

Aside from the revelatory sketches and text, perhaps the most interesting features of the work are the remarks, notations and criticisms which appear on the reproductions of the first drafts which passed back and forth between Pugin, Rowlandson and Ackerman.

It is evident that the French artist-draftsman and the English artist-satirist held at times no very complimentary opinion of one another.

STOCKS SHOW GAIN ON MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—UP—A short covering movement sent stocks into higher ground today after an early reaction had brought the whole list into new low territory for several years.

The turn came suddenly. Shortly after noon, the selling slowed down. Then word was passed down the line that the necessary liquidation had been completed. That brought the shorts into the market on the buying side.

Early losses then ranged to 5 points were turned into net gains that ranged above 10 points.

Active Trade

Trading was active, sales for the day totaling 5,065,885 shares.

All sections of the market profited by the advance. Coppers perked up after making new lows for several years. Rails and oils also made substantial gains. Special issues soared. Auburn Auto, J. I. Case and Allied Chemical made sensational advances.

The sentiment was brighter than at any time this autumn. Predictions were heard in many quarters that the Dow-Jones industrial average would show a gain of 20 points before selling of any consequence came into the market.

During the progress of the rally, rumors on the bullish side floated about. One of them was to the effect that the banking consortium which saved the market last autumn had decided to step in again. This could not be confirmed and was discredited in responsible quarters.

Transamerica Active

The syndicate formed for the purpose of bolstering up stock of Transamerica corporation was active in the early trading as heavy selling occurred in the issue. When the turn came, this stock easily moved up with the remainder of the list.

Near the close Henry Ford was quoted as saying he believed a business revival would start soon. He gave the impression that improvement would be slow, however. Because of improved prospects, he said, Ford plants are being operated at a higher rate than the present volume of business would justify.

Several railroads declared regular dividends and this bolstered sentiment in the carrier group.

Stocks Rise

Today's advance was considered as something more than a mere technical turn. It was believed in some quarters that further efforts to depress the market would meet with stubborn resistance.

Along with the rise in stocks, wheat rallied and closed steady to firm and other grains followed. Cotton also made a substantial gain as did sugar, the latter helped by prospects of resumption of conferences on curtailment plans.

United States Steel closed with a gain of 3 7/8 points above the previous close.

Motor Group Announces New Filing System

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 17.—Inauguration of a system of filing designed to provide an easy means of scrutinizing the record of drivers involved in two or more serious accidents was announced today by the bureau of operators' licenses of the division of motor vehicles.

The system, which the officials believe will result in the elimination of many incompetent and reckless drivers from the highways was made possible through a joint arrangement between the bureau of operators' licenses and the bureau of statistics.

The bureau of statistics keeps a file of all drivers involved in accidents in alphabetical order. Whenever a driver is discovered to have been involved in two or three accidents and the reports indicate there may be some reason for it other than mere coincidence, the record of the driver is turned over to the license bureau and an investigation is made.

Fred P. Williams, head of the license bureau said investigations frequently uncover the fact that the driver is physically or mentally incompetent or reckless. Proceedings are then started to revoke his license.

Sometimes the bureau does not regard the offenses of the driver as important enough to justify revocation. In such cases he is warned that his record is being kept and that he will be watched for further accidents.

"It is not our purpose to punish but to use the system to get rid of drivers who have no business on the highways," Williams explained.

TROOPS SEEK SLAYER OF TEACHER

MARYVILLE, Mo., Dec. 17.—UP—Two posses of armed citizens, augmented by a detachment of national guardsmen and packs of bloodhounds, tonight searched this entire section for the man who killed and mutilated the body of Miss Velma Colter, 19-year old rural school teacher.

Miss Colter's body was found in her country school classroom four miles southwest of here last night. She had been beaten to death. Torn pieces of clothing, overturned chairs and desks indicated she had fought with her assailant.

Three men, arrested as suspects, were released by county authorities late today when they presented alibis as to their whereabouts between four and six o'clock yesterday afternoon, set by Coroner C. D. Hummer as the time of the murder.

Two finger prints were found, one in collected dust on the school teacher's desk, the other on a blood smeared piece of paper.

Feeling was high among citizens tonight and authorities took steps to prevent mob violence if the slayer is captured.

A coroner's jury established definitely that the teacher had been criminally assaulted.

American Braves Headhunter Peril For Plant Species

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—UP—After braving the domains of the Formosa headhunters and the forests of Japan and Korea for 250 bushels of chestnuts, R. Kent Beattie, plant explorer, has returned to Washington.

For two and a half years Beattie has been searching the Far East for varieties of blight-resistant chestnuts, that may be planted with success in America. Blight is depleting rapidly the number of trees in the United States. The same disease organism exists in the Orient but does not injure the trees there seriously.

In Formosa Beattie pushed into the interior to the town of Musha, where savage headhunters recently killed scores of Japanese.

"The Japanese have done wonders with these wild men, however," the plant explorer said. They have tamed and educated them to a great extent and the race is increasing in numbers, instead of decreasing, as do most savage tribes when civilized.

Beattie's 250 bushels of chestnuts, as well as scions of about 90 cultivated varieties, were sent to Washington as fast as he collected them.

They were planted in the department of agriculture's nursery at Glendale, Md., to test their resistance to blight and their adaptation to the climate and soil of a new homeland. The plantings produced about 250,000 seedlings.

PROBE ON IN DEATH OF CHINESE

Whether the Chinese killed by the Southern Pacific "Owl" as he was walking along the track near Nobel Tuesday night is Do Poi Tung, 884 Washington street, San Francisco was still unknown last night as Coroner's deputies were endeavoring to ascertain his identity.

Several letters found in the dead Chinese's pockets indicated that his name was Do Poi Tung, although other letters bore different names.

The body of the dead man was brought to Richmond by the train crew. It was declared he was walking along the track and made no effort to leave it as the train approached.

F. H. Thomas, engineer; E. T. Johnson, fireman; and H. E. Wamsley, conductor, all of Oakland composed the crew in charge of the train.

Date for the inquest into the death had not been set last night.

China Problems Discussed By Japan Envoy

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—UP—Katsuji Debuchi, Japanese ambassador to the United States, in a speech tonight declared that he could not share the views of certain well meaning people who favored joint international action as a solution to the recurrent wars keeping China in chaos and poverty.

Debuchi, addressing the annual meeting of the Japan society here, declared that he could not consider Japan's relations with the United States without at the same time taking the Chinese situation into account.

He then outlined in brief the progress which he said the Chinese had been making during and since the revolution which he intimated has gone far toward eradicating irresponsible elements which long disturbed China following the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty in 1911.

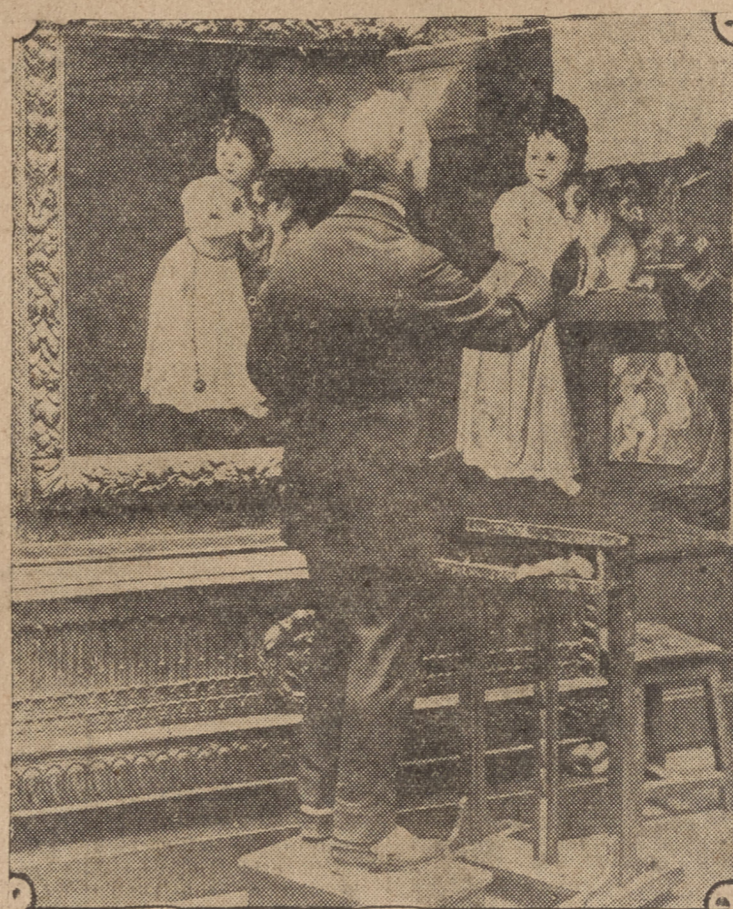

Debuchi described China as a nation "extraordinary in her elasticity."

"In her long history of unnumbered centuries," the Japanese diplomat told his distinguished audience of over 100 persons, "China has been down a good many times—but she has never been out. Always she found her own salvation in her own way."

Captain, Mate Held For Assault On High Seas

HONOLULU, T. H., Dec. 17.—UP—The days when men of iron sailed on ships of wood were recalled here today when Charles Adamson, 45, ship's carpenter, brought charges of assault on the high seas against Captain James P. Barker and First Mate Thomas Hughes of the three-masted schooner Tsubata.

Adamson, testifying before the United States commissioner, claimed Barker assaulted him on Nov. 3 while the ship was enroute to Honolulu when he failed to address the mate with the customary "Sir."

He said officers attempted to lock him in chains but could not find the key. Then, he declared, Barker, a veteran skipper, cursed him and knocked him out with his fists.

Frozen Assets Forces Bank In L. A. To Close

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17.—UP—The Belevvedere state bank, a small institution outside the city limits of Los Angeles, was closed today by the state banking department.

Inability to liquidate frozen paper assets caused officials of the institution to ask the state to take charge, according to an official announcement by John McFaul, examiner. The bank is not affiliated with the Los Angeles Clearing House association or any other bank.

Officers of the bank said that depositors "will not lose a cent." Deposits totaled $417,000.

Meanwhile, McFaul issued a second statement concerning his investigation of the books of the Bank of Hollywood, which closed last week, and indicated that depositors probably would be paid 100 percent. The bank, with its one branch, closed when it could not liquidate bonds to meet a run.

The closing caused investigation of Gilbert H. Beesemeyer, president of the board, later indicted on a charge of embezzling $3,000,000 from Guaranty Building and Loan.

HEIR TO TITLE HELD FOR BIGAMY

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 17.—UP—Dr. Alan Alexander Stirling, 38, one of two heirs of the 16th Earl of Sterling and in line for a fortune of almost $8,500,000, appealed today to the Arizona supreme court from his prison sentence on bigamy charges.

By an ironic coincidence, Dr. Stirling, who was sentenced to from six to nine years in prison, married his first wife to comply with terms of his grandfather's will and thus give him the right to claim title as the Earl of Sterling.

Once a soldier of fortune with Pancho Villa in Mexico, the physician hopes for freedom to secure several large coal mines and practically complete ownership of the Isle of Aaron, a British possession of the Earls of Sterling for 400 years.

The 16th earl, the doctor's grandfather, died in 1925. His vast estates were bequeathed to Dr. Stirling and the latter's cousin, the present Viscount Sterling. The only condition of the will, the physician told the court, was that both should marry within a year of the earl's death. Failing, each would be cut off with a shilling.

Eager to win the fortune and title, Dr. Stirling married Elsa Worch at Sunburst, Mont., on Oct. 8, 1928, while practicing in that state. They parted, he said, when he returned from a professional call into Canada and allegedly found her with another man, Mrs. Stirling described this man as her first husband, the doctor said.

Dr. Stirling sought a new start in life in Arizona, but the state contended that he welcomed trouble by marrying Virginia Novater, 18, of Wellton, Ariz., on June 23, 1929.

At his trial for bigamy, Dr. Stirling said he had evidence of a former marriage of his first wife which would have voided their own wedding. This evidence sank with the ill-fated Tahiti in the Pacific, he said. The first wife testified she never had received a divorce from Dr. Stirling, and the latter was silent on this point. He was convicted and sentenced.

SILHOUETTE of a horseman against a desert sky . . . a swaying figure on a storm-swept deck . . . how enjoyable but how little related to your own every-day life are the stories of adventure that you read.

But there are adventure stories of another kind that you come upon every day. Adventures with a thrill and excitement of their own—adventures that you can share. You find them in the advertisements in your daily newspaper.

The advertisements tell you of new experiences that can be made a part of your life. They tell you how it feels to skim along the road in a smoothly powered, new car. To turn a switch on a new radio and command the harmonies of a superb orchestra. To board a limited train and go whirling across the country on a new kind of vacation.

The advertisements do not stop with telling you about these things. They tell you exactly how you can make them your own—most economically and with the greatest assurance of satisfaction. Read the advertisements. Share the adventures in pleasure and satisfaction they offer you!

in the basement of the establishment. The coil had set the kindling on fire, which in turn had caught the under-planning of the place.
Fire Chief W. P. Cooper and Capt. of Police L. E. Jones waited at the barbecue stand until five o'clock in the morning. When Mr. and Mrs. Thomason and Andrade drove up in their car, they were immediately placed under arrest.
The three denied any knowledge of the fire when questioned by police yesterday and last night.

Place Insured
They told police that they had taken an all night trip to the mountains to collect Christmas berries and decorations and had planned to return home early to open the establishment.
The extension cord which was arranged to set for the fire, was in the garage when they left, they told police.
The building in which the barbecue is operated is owned by Harry Musgriff of Seattle. Contents of the structure were insured for $2500, investigators say.

Alimony Stops

Third Marriage
OAKLAND, Dec. 17.—UP—His intentions to re-marry were rudely shattered by Superior Judge James G. Quinn today when Granville R. Thomas principal of a private school in San Francisco was hauled into court to show cause why he was not in contempt for failing to pay alimony ordered when he was divorced by his first wife.
Thomas who declared his income was $160 a month, said he could not pay $100 a month for the support of his two children and $50 a month alimony to his first wife.
Mrs. Katherine Thomas of Berkeley, his first wife declared she did not ask her divorce mate to pay out back alimony, but wanted to be assured $75 a month for the children. This the judge assured her would be the case as he ruled that Thomas contribute that amount monthly to the children's support.

TREE CONTEST ENTRIES TO CLOSE SOON

Friday at 5 p. m. continues to be the deadline for entries in the lighted outdoor Christmas tree contest to give their names to J. O. Ford.

At the present time there are 45 Richmond residents who have entered the contest for the awarding of bronze plaques to the various groups. It was reported yesterday that there are some residents of the city who have decorated and lighted trees in their yards, but they have not entered them in the contest.

George Upham, chairman of the committee working for the beautification of the city has urged that these persons send their names to the authorities conducting the event, that they may become eligible for the awards.

The committee which will select the winners will begin by the various winners survey of the city Saturday. All persons who have entered should have their trees lighted by that time, it was said.

Upham urged residents to drive about the city to view the many trees that have been lighted. Never in the history of Richmond have so many beauty spots been existent at one time, it was said.

Some of the recent entrants are: A. F. Cushing, 2005 Roosevelt; Edward A. Wilson, 5216 Solano; Wilson and Kratzer, 705 Bissell; Dr. Hall Vestal, 341 Twenty-third street; Dr. Ed Guinan, 457 Tuller; George F. Brooks, 615 Humboldt; William Barry, 164 Seventh; and S. G. Manyk, 3809 Solano.

Mexican Blamed For Failure Of Scientists

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 17.—UP—A government, was sent with details of how an American expedition seeking traces of a race of supermen was ejected from an excavation site in southern Sonora were revealed today by Dr. Byron H. Cummings, chief archaeologist of the University of Arizona and leader of the party.

Expressing the belief that the excavations held great possibilities of yielding direct evidence of the supposed race, Dr. Cummings said he was prevented from making more than preliminary discoveries because of hostility on the part of Mexican lease holders backed by armed Yaqui natives.

The fossil remains of a youth six feet, eight inches tall was the most important find. Dr. Cummings said, although a dozen skeletons of men, women and children were revealed. Knowledge of the type of people who roamed the desolate area more than 2000 years ago.

Peculiar Shapes
"The shape of their skulls was one of the most peculiar characteristics," Dr. Cummings said. "The craniums of some of the men were more than a foot long, as our earlier information indicated. This may connect them with the 'Pitheco' people of Arizona, evidences of which already have been uncovered."

"The pottery we found in the graves was used mostly to hold human ashes, although many beautiful trinkets adorned the bones of the women. In an upper stratum of the excavations we found a number of pockets in the earth filled with more human ashes. We took this as an indication of different burial customs of later generations."

"There is no question of our discovery of a heretofore unknown burial ground. We cannot say now of course whether this ancient cemetery holds the proof of the giant race we sought, but our bones certainly were raised by the first discoveries. Conditions were made so uncomfortable for us we had to leave."

THREE BANDITS ARE SLAIN IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—UP—The rush of bandits to rather cash before Christmas reached a climax here tonight when three were shot and killed in separate instances, bringing to six the total who have died in the past 48 hours attempting robberies.

One of the bandits was shot by a prospective victim who was a former policeman, another was killed by his nervous companion and the third by a policeman after the bandits gun failed to explode when he pulled the trigger.

Two other bandits were killed Monday when they attempted to rob a Loop tea shop. Another was shot dead trying to holdup a detective who was putting his car into a garage.

Two bandits also were killed yesterday near Sibley, Ill., after robbing a station, and a bandit tonight Officer M. J. Neary was standing inside a hat store when a bandit entered with a gun drawn. When he saw the officer the bandit snapped the trigger of his gun, which failed to explode. Neary fired as he drew and the bandit fell mortally wounded.

When a bandit ordered Richard Siebold to raise his hands in the latter's butcher shop, Siebold lifted his left hand first and then his right in which was a gun. He shot the robber to death.

The third bandit killed was one of a gang which obtained $320 at a Southside soft drink parlor. Martin Santa, a customer, grappled with one of the robbers and rolled with him to the floor. A companion tried to shoot him, but missed and killed his associate.
